Summer in Britain isn't always what we would like it to be. Sun baked days on our home shores may seem a thing of the past, but that shouldn't put us off when it comes to knitting for the summer. Indeed it's the perfect excuse (should you need one) to invest in the bright and beautiful yarns on offer this season, and to showcase this month's collection our location was the quintessential British beach house, bathed in natural light and lovely enough to make the weather outside incidental.

As knitters, I don't need to remind you of the amount of time invested in knitting up a much-coveted pattern. From choosing the yarn to sewing up the final seam, it is a labour of love. But what to do when you proudly try on your finished piece only to be confronted with an image of yourself that is nothing short of disappointing? The truthful answer at this stage, is very little. This month, Carol Parkes looks at how to avoid this possibility and helps you understand what will work with your own colouring in the first of her two-part series, Yes, but does suit you? (next month: body shape).

And finally, our supplement this issue brings you even more patterns for summer, so take my advice, forget the weather... as always, it's all about the knitting!

Knitting + chemistry = fun

We love unusual knitting stories and it doesn't get much more unusual than this. The University of Surrey's Department of Chemistry is building a giant model of the mineral Perovskite, using knitting and crochet pieces made by anyone and everyone with an interest in science or craft. The brainchild of Dr Julia Percival, an academic at the University and avid crafter, the project aims to bridge the worlds of art and science and prove chemistry can be fun! The structure of Perovskite was chosen as it is one of the world's most abundant minerals – and lends itself quite nicely to knitting and crochet patterns. Designed by Dr Percival, the diamond shaped polyhedrons are knitted and the yellow spheres crocheted and the size of the structure only depends on the amount of pieces made and donated to it. The final model will be built in September at the University of Surrey before going on a tour of scientific centres around the country, accompanied with a 'wall of fame' of contributors to recognise their efforts. There are free patterns to download and your pieces must be sent in by 1st September 2013 to be included, so don't miss out! To download the free patterns and find out more visit www.surrey.ac.uk/chemistry/perovskite and to keep up with the project's progress follow www.facebook.com/ThePerovskiteProject.

Knit the family

The Royal Navy & Royal Marines Children's Fund (RN&RMCF), the only charity dedicated to supporting children whose parents work for the Naval Services, has a fantastic new project and is looking for knitters to volunteer their time to get involved. 'Knit the Family' is a new initiative, focusing on the importance of 'knitting' families back together when parents return from active service. Central to this project is a support handbook with advice and guidance for families in helping overcome the effects of Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder and other traumas. With each book the RN&RMCF want to send out knitted dolls depicting a parent and child holding hands to symbolise this 'knitting' together of families – and this is where you come in. They need volunteers to knit the dolls! There are three doll patterns available to knit; a little girl, a Royal Marine and a Royal Navy doll (though feel free to change skin, hair colours, sex etc), created exclusively by Fiona Goble, author of Knit Your Own Royal Wedding, which are all available to download for free at www.rnrmchildrensfund.org.uk. They have even teamed up with Laughing Hens to get you a 10% discount on any yarn and materials used for the dolls (quote RNRMCF at www.laughinghens.com). If you want to help knit a parent and child, then download the patterns and send your dolls in to: Natalie Lloyd, Spider PR, 4 Leathermarket Street, London SE1 3HN.

Remember When opened in December 2011 and has gone from strength to strength. I retired from practising law and decided that it was time to venture into pastures new and in particular the world of antiques and knitting which have been my favourite pastimes for many years. The opportunity presented itself to open a shop that combines knitting with antiques. It was a quirky idea, but one that has been very warmly welcomed by the throng of customers that step through our doors.

The Knit and Natter group meets every Monday morning 10.30-12.30 and due to public demand a beginners' crochet class started in March. There is a vast array of yarns, patterns and accessories to choose from and a mail order service is now available. I am always willing to help with any knitting queries.

Now is the time to be thinking about summer holidays, warmer weather and wearing cotton to keep you cool.

King Cole Opium is a light DK yarn in subtle pastel colours with lovely supporting patterns, including a gorgeous shawl for those cooler evenings.

For something with a bit more glamour try Sirdar Ella DK in soft summer shades with a lurex thread, and to complement your outfit how about a scarf made from Trecio Lace Yarn.

Bergere de France never fail to wow us with their designs and the new spring/summer Magazine No. 166 is no exception. The jacket knitted in Eclipse is a must-have and the new shades of turquoise and orange in Coton Fifty are scrumptious.

Debbie Bliss Luxury Silk Print DK is another new addition as is Jesse from Louisa Harding, which comes in an array of lovely colours and the supporting pattern book has designs set on a cowgirl theme

When romance is in the air, look no further than Romeo and Julia, the new Aran yarns from Rico. Romeo has a silver lurex thread running through it and Julia has tiny sequins. So many new treats for summer!

5. Cashmered 100% Cashmere

100% Cashmere, as its name suggests, is a luxuriously soft yarn that is spun as 2 x 2/28 strands to give a 3 ply equivalent weight, making it ideal for lightweight hand knits. It has a standard tension of 30 sts and 40 rows on a 3mm needle, which makes it a good choice if you have a preference for the fully-fashioned detailing and shaping of vintage knitting patterns. The company, founded by Moira Williams, prides itself on using only 'Grade A' cashmere with a fibre thickness of 14 microns (that's 14 millionths of a metre) and a fibre length of 34-36mm. In short this means the longer the fibre, the higher the quality as long, fine fibres have a tendency to pill less, maintain shape better and last longer. There's a great choice of 20 colours ranging from pastels such as Harebell, Lilac and Candy Floss to stronger fashion shades like Blackberry, Strawberry and Deep Aqua shown here. Cold hand washing is recommended.

Composition: 100% cashmere

8. Rico Creative Bamboo

Creative Bamboo is a gorgeously soft, well-rounded blend of 60% viscose and 40% polyamide. The high viscose content, which is derived from the bamboo, makes the yarn wonderfully smooth to knit with while also giving it a gentle lustre, great stitch definition and excellent drape. It knits to a standard tension of 20 sts and 26 rows on 4mm needles and with an RRP of £5.50 per 100g ball it represents great value for money. There is a choice of eight vibrant solid shades to choose from including the intense deep pink of shade 004 Berry, shown here, and although gentle washing at 30°C is recommended ironing is not.

7. Bergere de France Boheme

Boheme is a highly twisted slub blend of 54% acrylic, 20% cotton, 14% polyamide and 12% polyester. Each of the twisted shades has a white base that creates a mottled colour effect when knitted and the yarn's thick and thin construction means that it has both dense and sheer areas when knitted. This makes it ideal for beginners whose tension may be a little irregular as well more experienced knitters who enjoy working with exciting colour and interesting textural effects. It knits to a standard tension of 17 sts and 25 rows on 4.5mm needles but more lacy effects can be achieved by knitting on larger sized needles. There is a choice of eight shades including classic neutrals like Gravier (Grey) and Biscuit to the zingy citrus tones of shade 24438 Mais shown here. Pattern support can be found in the Mag 166 Spring/Summer Collection and Mag 167 Summer Mag 0-10 years booklets, which are each priced at £6.95. Gentle washing at 30°C is recommended.

Composition: 54% acrylic, 20% cotton, 14% polyamide, 12% polyester

6. Rico Superba Cotton Stretch

Cotton Stretch is a smooth cotton-rich blend of 79% cotton, 18% polyamide and 3% polyester that has been developed for especially sock knitting. If you're normally put off at the thought of working with a stretchy yarn then don't be, this has the gentlest hint of stretch which makes it smooth to knit with the micro fibre adding comfort and fit to the finished sock. It knits to a standard tension of 32 sts and 42 rows on 2.5-3mm needles producing a soft fabric with a gentle lustre, great stitch definition and it's excellent metrage of 420m per 100g ball means that one ball is enough for a pair of socks. There's a palette of 6 essential shades including White (sh 001), Black (sh 006) and the gentle pink of sh 003 Fuchsia shown above. Gentle washing at 30°C is recommended.

1. Artesano Definition Sock Yarn

Definition Sock yarn is a beautiful sock weight blend of 75% Merino wool and 25% polyamide. This combination of softness and strength has been carefully spun for maximum stitch definition so rather than being limited to just sock knitting this versatile yarn can be used for larger projects too. With a standard 4 ply tension of 28 sts and 36 rows and a metreage of 400m per 100g, one hank is enough for a pair of short socks. There is a choice of 12 delicious colours ranging from classic black and cream to the vibrant Perky and Mushy Peas, shown here. Pattern support can be found in the Definition 1 pattern booklet, which includes 11 designs for socks, shawls and hand warmers using lace, cables and stripes but once you've seen the colour range you'll want to use it for fairisle and intarsia projects too. This is an easy yarn to care for as the Merino content is machine washable. Machine washing at 40°C is recommended.

This month's selection of knitting books to inspire you. By Katy Evans

The Art of Seamless Knitting

By Simona Merchant-Dest and Faina Goberstein
£16.99
Published by Interweave
ISBN 978 1 59668 788 2

It's not surprising people love seamless knitting. I'm sure the reason half of us don't make skill-stretching garments, however much we love them, is because we hate the dreaded sewing up. Seamless knitting techniques are perfect for garments though, especially as they knit up quickly, create a custom fit and, of course, no sewing up seams! This book covers the basics but also delves a bit further into the various methods of seamless knitting, covering top down, bottom up, adapting lace, cable and colour patterns to circular knitting and shaping techniques. It also gives advice on how to adapt patterns to make them seamless and includes 12 patterns to test your skills on.

Sweet Knits: 30 Cute Designs for Kids

By Catherine Graham-Evans
£14.99
Published by Bloomsbury Publishing
ISBN 978 1 40817 194 3

As the title suggests, this book is full of sweet knitted projects for children, though mainly for girls, from babies up to 10 years old. There is a chapter on knitted sweet treats, including biscuits, cupcakes, strawberries and an entire tea set, which would make a fantastic present. The chapter on kids' clothes has some really lovely projects, from a boy's jumper that can be adapted to feature a pirate ship, sports motif or robot to a girls' bird intarsia motif dress (showing the different adaptations and colourways is a real bonus) as well as various tank tops, vests and shrugs. The last project chapter covers accessories from bunting to daisy chains and hanging hearts that would brighten up any nursery or playroom. Plenty of great present ideas here.

Knitting Pattern Essentials

By Sally Melville
£16.99
Published by Potter Craft
ISBN 978 0 307 96557 8

Sally Melville is a well-known American author and teacher with many years of design experience under her belt, and in this, her latest book, she turns her attention to sweater construction. According to Sally the number one mistake knitters make is following a pattern exactly, with no thought to their particular body shape. Her aim here is to give knitters the skills to create and modify patterns to look and fit exactly how you want them to. From calculating your personal measurements and choosing from a variety of necklines, sleeves and hemlines to combining garment elements and rescuing a project that doesn't turn out as expected, Sally's advice is clear, instructive and invaluable. Plus there are eight patterns to make your own!

Make Do and Mend: Keeping Family and Home Afloat on War Rations

Foreword by Jill Norman
£9.99
Published by Michael O'Mara Books Ltd
ISBN 978 1 78243 027 8

'Make do and mend' themed books are everywhere and, yep, here is another. You may roll your eyes, but this book isn't pretending we are going through something similar today (we are not even close) that can be sorted by a jolly round of cupcake baking, much like other books in the same vein. This is in fact a second edition of the popular collection of genuine leaflets originally distributed during WW II. Purely from a historical point of view, this book is a fascinating documentation of a time that is often caricatured for its cheery and stoic attitude in the face of rationing but should be admired for its practicality, tenacity and said cheery attitude. It's actually a pleasure to read.

WILD WEST

Cowgirl chic is here! This summer fashion is taking a turn for all things Western. By Katie Holloway

The denim trend from spring continues to be a hit into summer as designers look to the Wild West for their looks. Bold tailoring with strong collars, like this Pol outfit, are at the height of this trend, paired with softer knits, à la Ssic and Paul, who have extended the style with pigtails and wooden accessories. Natural fibres like cotton, leather and wood are at the heart of Western style, as Duyos' leather outfit demonstrates. Pringle have teamed a large collar with embellished knits and a neckline that mirrors the collar.

Knitwear designers have caught the cowboy bug too, with lace, denim and pastels galore. Louisa Harding's Elsie pattern is a vibrant knit for summer, with the perfect lace detail for this trend. Sirdar's pattern in Americana DK uses soft, pastel yarn that hits the right faded note. Rowan's lacy Tennessee pattern is perfect to pair with denim and ditsy dresses. Plus, for a key piece, check out Sian Brown's Denim shirt pattern, which is available for free now at www.craftsinstitute.com

What to wear with

A cowboy hat and cowboy boots are key components for this style, especially when worn with a denim shirt. But wear just one at a time if you don't want to look like you're heading to a fancy dress party. Knits for this trend should be in soft, pastel colours that give a sun-faded look. Natural fibers like cotton and linen give the perfect handle. Yes, but does it suit you?

Part 1: Colour

In the first of this two-part guide to discovering what really suits and flatters you, Carol Parkes starts by looking at the role of colour

Ask yourself this – how many times have you knitted a garment that you don't actually wear?

We all know how long it takes to knit a jumper, for example. All those hours spent at the needles and all those thousands of stitches. But at the end of all that work, does your jumper suit you? Will you feel good wearing it?

Non-knitters often don't understand that the process of knitting is, generally, as enjoyable as arriving at the finished product. However, it is a better 'win-win' to make garments that are both fun to knit and look great when you wear them. There are some gorgeous colours of yarn available these days. They can look great on young models in magazines. But what looks really good on you?

Some years ago I trained in colour and style analysis for women. From this I learned some fairly simple, basic principles about shape, fit and colour. It is not exactly rocket science. As a knitter, you may find this helpful when choosing patterns and yarns. In this first article, I look at colour – what colours are likely to suit you and why. Next month, I'll focus on pattern styles and body shape.

Why colour matters

Of course the colour of our clothes changes the way we look – but it is how colour affects the appearance of our face that matters the most. This makes it particularly important for knitters to choose their yarn carefully as the majority of garments we knit are for our top half (jumpers, scarves, hats etc).

Most people tend to focus on faces so it makes sense to have your face looking as healthy, clean and energised as possible. Surrounding your face with colours that don't suit you can make you look tired, washed out, grey, or even sallow. It can even elicit the question: "Are you all right?" Unfortunately, the effects of unsuitable colours tend to increase as we mature – younger faces can be much more forgiving.

Basic principles of colour choice

The main principle here is to wear colours that share the same characteristics as your own natural colouring. The most important aspects are your skin tone, hair colour and eye colour. Together, these make up your own particular natural colouring 'type'.

A widely used method of describing colour was developed by an American artist, Albert Munsell, in the early twentieth century. He used three characteristics to describe colour and these can be used to describe the natural colouring of a person as well as the colour of yarns.

These three characteristics are:

Depth (how dark or light a colour is)

Clarity (how bright or muted a colour is)

Undertone (how warm or cool a colour is)

It is easy to understand depth – how dark or light a colour looks. In a person, look for the degree of depth or lightness in someone's hair, eyes and skin tone.

Clarity is also fairly easy – it is the degree to which a colour looks pure, bright and vibrant or more muted and 'greyed down'. Some people have very brightly coloured eyes and bright clear skin tone whereas others have a more blended, muted and softer look to their eyes, skin and hair.

When deciding about undertone, look for an underlying 'blueness' in the colour, which makes it appear cool (e.g. fuschia pink or pine green). Warm colours, on the other hand, will have an underlying 'yellowness' to them (e.g. salmon pink or olive green). In people, look for an overall warmth or coolness in their hair and skin especially.

Seasonal approach to colour types

Many colour analysis systems (for colour typing people) use a seasonal approach – Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter. This takes account of the three aspects of colour described above and puts them into groupings:

Spring

'Springs' look good in warm bright colours.

Green cardigan by Sirdar, issue 115, May 2013

Spring

'Springs' and 'Autumns' look good in warm (yellow undertone) colours. 'Springs' have bright, light, warm characteristics and come alive in colours like lime green, salmon pink and buttercup yellow. 'Springs' usually have warm coloured hair and bright, light coloured eyes. Their skin is often pale and warm-looking. Examples include Julianne Moore, Doris Day and Carol Kirkwood, the weather reader.

Summer

Summer colouring is light, cool and muted. Although they are also cool based, they have a more delicate, dusty look to them compared to 'Winters'. Some are obviously light, like Helen Mirren and Sienna Miller, whereas others are more muted and blended in their appearance, like Kate Moss.

Wearing knitted garments in black or bright green yarn, for example, would overpower their softer, natural colouring. Cool and more muted colours such as mid blue and rose pink would make them look more radiant, however. Most 'Summers' look best when wearing blended, medium depth colours without much contrast.

Summer

'Summers' are light and cool, suiting slightly muted colours.

Frou frou by Pat Menchini, issue 104, July 2012

Winter

'Winters' suit colours that are deep, cool and bright.

Hermione by Louisa Harding, issue 112, March 2013

Autumn

'Autumns' suit deep, rich, warm and muted shades.

Viognier by Lisa Richardson, issue 109, November 2012

Winter

Winter colouring is a combination of deep, cool and bright. You will notice something obviously deep about them – their hair or eyes for example. They often have a cool, vibrant and contrasting look. Examples include the Duchess of Cambridge and her sister Pippa Middleton, as well as Cheryl Cole and Nigella Lawson.

'Winters' should wear colours that are also deep, cool and bright, like deep navy, bright fuschia pink, or deep purple. They look good in very clear, contrasting colours. If they wear light coloured contrasts, they should be icy cool colours or pure, bright white.

Autumn

'Autumns' look polished and expensive in deeper, muted, warm colours, like autumn leaves. They have a rich, burnished warmth to their appearance and look good in browns, golds, warm reds and warm, muted greens, like avocado and olive. Examples include Beyoncé, Sarah Ferguson and Jennifer Anniston. Autumns look best if they dress in a blended way without too much stark contrast.

Choosing yarn

With so many yarn colours to choose from these days, it is easy to get carried away. Dieticians tell people never to do their food shopping when they are hungry. The same principle can be applied here – buy yarn with a cool, wise head. Here's some advice that might help:

- Make sure you wear your most flattering colours nearest to your face.
- Try to see the colour of the yarn in daylight if at all possible. Colours can look different under some artificial lights in shops so ask if you can take it to a window. When buying online be extra careful about colour accuracy, especially if you are relying on people's home photos on websites like eBay. Looking up colours on an online yarn index can help (e.g. www.yarndex.com).
- Shiny and/or sparkly yarns tend to suit 'Winter' and 'Spring' types best. 'Summer' and 'Autumn' types look better in matt yarns.

Enjoying colours

The above descriptions have given an outline of the sorts of colours that are likely to suit people. Some people may decide to have a professional colour analysis session. Colour and image consultants, by and large, tend to work using some form of the Munsell system described here.

Whether or not you have your 'colours done', it is best to adopt a balanced attitude to colour choice. Colour is endlessly fascinating and there's so much to learn about it – so be curious and enjoy it rather than become excessively rule bound. Try experimenting with colour combinations that appeal to you and observe colours that you are drawn to.

It obviously makes sense to pick yarn that is the most flattering for you if you are going to wear it near your face – especially if it costs a lot and it will take you ages to knit. But if you absolutely love a colour of yarn that won't do your face any favours, why not use it for a bag, wrist-warmers, a cushion or a throw? Or for someone else who will suit it. My 'Spring' redheaded, blue-eyed friend is the delighted recipient of delicious lime green scarves that would, quite honestly, look dreadful on me.

Top tips for choosing yarn colours:

- Pick colours that share the same characteristics as your own natural colouring.
- Wear your best, most flattering colours nearest to your face.
- Look at the colour in good, natural light before buying, if possible.
- Think of the colour 'type' of the people you knit for – don't make them something just because you happen to like the colour.

Pattern page 50

This jumper dress takes its inspiration from the sort of high fashion statement pieces that many of us admire but could never afford. So whilst at first glimpse it may appear to be a very basic dropped shoulder tunic, it has clever details such as fully fashioned cap sleeves, waist shaping and feature zip fastening, which definitely give it a 'designer' edge.

Front neck shaping

This design features a generously wide neckline with a narrow, gently curling stocking stitch edge that provides a great contrast to the deep rib edge at the bottom of the dress. Whilst you may be used to the traditional 'pick up and knit' when working edges the pattern also uses some of the 'live' stitches previously placed on stitch holders creating less bulk in the neckline where the stocking stitch edge joins the garment.

Image 1 Join the shoulder and upper arm seams then with the RS facing knit the stitches from the Left Back previously. Place on waste yarn/stitch holder onto a 3.75mm needle.

Image 2 Next pick up and knit the required number of stitches down left side of Front Neck

Image 4 Next, pick up and k11 sts up right side of front neck and finally knit the stitches from the right back previously left on waste yarn. As you can see in the pictures above, placing coloured markers between each set of stitches can help to keep a track of your progress as you work.

Image 5 At this point place a coloured marker in the first and last stitches of the last row. (This is to mark the base of the neck shaping on both back pieces, which will make it easier when positioning the zip). Now beginning with a purl row work 5 more rows in stocking stitch remembering to continue the garter stitch established at the opening edges of the garment.

Take care not to pull too tightly on the yarn when casting off as this may affect the way the edge curls back.

Inserting the zip fastener

If worries about the zip puckering or the fabric stretching means you've never put a zip into knitwear before then the step-by-step tutorial below should get rid of all those fears. It's really important that you choose a weight of zip that is appropriate to the style of garment and weight of the yarn you've knitted. So for example whilst a chunky open ended zip may suit a heavily cabled Aran jacket you'll need a much lighter weight (possibly concealed) zip for a DK or 4 ply weight garment.

Having completed the neck edging, sewn in the sleeves and sewn up the side and sleeve seams, the only thing left is to insert the zip and we'll be doing this one side at a time.

Image 1 Lay the closed zip on a flat surface then with the RS of the garment back facing upwards position the zip so that the top of the teeth is level with the coloured marker. Inserting the zip horizontally, as shown, secure the zip in place, taking care that the knitted fabric sits flat all the way down. (Stretching the knitted edge can cause the zip to pucker). For this first side the garter stitch edge of the garment should sit to the left of the zip so that the teeth are just visible when fastened. I like to use plenty of pins so that I don't have to baste the zip temporarily.

Image 2 Now using backstitch, sew the zip in place use a sewing needle threaded with matching coloured thread. Try to get your stitches as close to the knitted edge as possible to prevent it from curling back and revealing more of the zip than intended.

Image 3 Once at the top of the zip turn the garment over so the wrong side is facing and fold over the excess fabric sitting above the teeth. Before securing make sure that they don't obstruct the path of the zip as it opens and closes then whipstitch in place to the WS to prevent them from being seen when the dress is worn.

Image 4 Now using a darning needle threaded with your main yarn, secure the edges of the zip in place on the WS using whipstitch.

Image 1 Cut 2 x 150cm lengths of yarn – one of each colour – and hold together.

Image 2 Knot at one end and tape to a flat surface (I like to use my desk).

Image 3 Tape the other end of the yarns to the tip of an electric drill or screwdriver then stand away from the desk so that the yarn is fully outstretched. Switch on the drill/screwdriver to twist the yarn until the cord begins to twist back on itself.

Image 4 Even out the cord and knot at one end to prevent it from untwisting.

Image 5 Fold the cord in half and thread the loop created into the end of the zip pull. Pass the cut end of the cord through the loop until the cord is secured onto the zip.

Image 6 This is a great way to add a pop of colour to the dress when it's finished.

TENSION

15 sts and 26 rows in lace patt to 10cm x 10cm after blocking using 3.75mm needles.

ABBREVIATIONS

pw = purlwise

sk2po = sl1, k2tog, pass slipped st over

wyif = with yarn in front

wyib = with yarn at back

For more abbreviations see page 85

PATTERN NOTES

A crescent shaped shawl which starts with a wide lace border. The crescent shape is achieved by working a combination of decreases and short rows in garter stitch. It is essential to use a very loose cast on. I recommend using the long tail cast on over 2 needles or use a needle a few sizes bigger.

If the cast on is too tight it will be more difficult to block the shawl.

Match the swatch

To match the sizes and measurements given in our patterns you must make a tension swatch (gauge) before knitting the project. If your swatch turns out larger than ours, try again using smaller needles. If it is too small, try larger needles.

Sewing up

- 1 Before you sew knitted pieces together, pin the pieces flat to the measurements given on our diagrams.
- 2 Steam press, lightly steam or spray lightly with water depending on washing instructions on the ball band.
- 3 Allow pieces to cool and dry before sewing up.
- 4 To sew up use the yarn you knitted with. Or, if the yarn is textured and hard to sew, use a smooth matching yarn – cotton with cotton, wool with wool, etc.
- 5 Many garments can be made up by sewing shoulder seams first, then setting in sleeve head to armhole, then completing by sewing along the long seam of the sides and sleeves. Each pattern has extra tips where necessary.
- 6 Darn in all ends and finish seams by lightly steaming from wrong side, provided the yarn can be steamed.

Choosing alternative yarns

- 1 Choose a modern yarn that you like, with a similar look, composition and weight to the one in the old pattern.
- 2 Knit a tension swatch (gauge) and compare it to the one given in the pattern. If they both come out to the same size, you're onto a winner!
- 3 Calculate how much yarn to buy. Many patterns tell you the length of yarn in each ball as well as the weight. So if the pattern uses 10 balls at 130 metres per ball, you know you need up to 1,300 metres of yarn. Check the length per ball of your new yarn and divide the total yarn length by the length in one ball to get the number of balls you need to make the item.
- 4 Compare the total weight of each yarn length. For example if the original pattern had 10 balls at 50g each, the total weight would be 500g. Now that you have worked out how many balls of new yarn you are buying, just multiply the number of balls by the weight per ball. That should roughly match the 500g total that you had for the old yarn. It's just another way to check that you are on the right track.
- 5 Use this same method to substitute yarns for modern patterns, where the yarn is too expensive or difficult to obtain, or if you just want to use up yarn in your stash.

Admired knitter

My wife, Carol, has knitted a superb baby shawl for our forthcoming grandchild. It is very large and was knitted on a circular needle, with over 2000 stitches in one round at the largest point. We have had so many people saying that she should send a picture to a knitting magazine, so I thought you might be interested. Carol has been knitting for over 60 years and she sells what she hand knits at local craft fairs, where her work is constantly admired. I tell everyone that our pipes will never freeze as there is too much wool in the house! Carol can also crochet and in the past has made garments for a Mayfair couture. As you can imagine, sitting watching Carol knit is not the ideal occupation for retirement, so I also have a craft... I make pens, pencils and fountain pens, mainly out of wood, which I sell along with Carol at the sales. I have recently made pens from 12mm knitting needles!

Content with the content

I just received Knitting magazine issue 114, April 2013, and as usual there are plenty of lovely garments to make! Please do not change the format and turn it into a magazine full of little silly patterns - such items like the pattern I saw recently in a crochet magazine for a posh flower for a paper clip! It's lovely to see one or two patterns for toys and garments for babies etc, but personally I prefer a magazine full of fashionable clothes we can wear. And up 'til now you have concentrated on such patterns, and kept to the high standard which attracted me to your magazine in the first place. Keep up the good work - I for one can't wait from month to month to receive the next copy. Next month's edition looks very interesting too!

Catrin Lloyd Rowlands, via Facebook

Ed's reply

We know that it's the fashion knits that always have us reaching for our needles each month (even after commissioning, shooting and proof reading all the patterns), so these are what we want to bring to our readers. We're so glad you're enjoying them - and we'll keep trying to bring you a magazine gorgeous packed with garments that you can't wait to knit!

STAR LETTER PRIZE

Would you rather...?

On Facebook... we like to ask crafty 'would you rather' questions to get our brains puzzling. We asked you whether you would rather have your home filled with beautiful knits that you have made, or have it filled with knits that others have knitted for you with love, but are not quite perfect? Here are some of your answers.

Carolyn: My house is full of things friends and family members have made for me. They might not be exactly 'perfect', but they are unique and perfect for me, which I love.

Jen: No one else knits for me, but I love knitting for my family and home. My home is full of things that I have knitted; I've not made a perfect one yet, but my boys love snuggling under their knitted blankets!

Elspeth: I honestly couldn't say. It depends if I'm allowed to keep things I knit too. I love other people knitting for my daughters because I know the time, effort and love that went into them.

Susie: I would love to have a home filled with things that others have knitted for me, but sadly I don't think it would ever happen.

Sharing the good news

I recently bought a copy of Knitting issue 114, April 2013, and I wanted to compliment you on it. The fact that I could have a look inside to see if there was anything of interest to me was what first caught my eye. When I looked at the contents and saw the article on James Laxton, that was what sold the magazine to me. I have since shown the article to my husband and mother. It was very uplifting to hear something positive about the British wool industry. I don't often buy magazines, as I have more patterns than I need, and I don't need any more freebies. I shall be keeping a look out for future editions of your magazine.

Ann, Surrey

Shaping patterns

Q I felt complete sympathy with Lily McCool of Northern Ireland [Ask Jeanette, issue 114, April 2013] because I too, found the Cool classic tee from Knitting, issue 111 a fracking nightmare (my favourite new 'swearword'!). After much harrumphing and some very helpful tips from Knitting's experts, I made a complete swatch of the pattern in 'ordinary' yarn – something that 'gives' with the needles rather than working with the un-giving Winter Cotton (beautiful though it is). So Lily, persevere with a kinder-to-your-fingers yarn then transfer your expertise to the instructions given in response to your letter: it's working here and it's looking good!

STAR LETTER

PS on the subject of fracking nightmares though, I am (still) utterly beaten by Amanda Jones's lovely Lacy Jumper (Knitting, issue 100, March 2012)! All's fine on the straight but it beats the hell out of me when it comes to integrating the diamond pattern into shaped areas like necklines and sleeve tops!

Wenna Gilbraith, Newbury

A I wish you could have seen my face when I first read your email! It is by far the most colourful letter I've received in a very long time and as for you adopting 'fracking' as an expletive it's perfect for describing seemingly simple tasks that drive you to distraction. I think most of us have certain choice phrases to which we revert when our knitting doesn't quite go to plan, as for my choice phrase... that's for me to know...

I'm glad that you found my advice for shaping the Classic cool tee helpful and your tip for practising using some waste yarn is one that I swear by myself (excuse the pun, couldn't resist).

So now let's hope I can put an end to your fracking nightmare when it comes to Amanda Jones's Lacy jumper. It's a really pretty and feminine design featuring a diamond motif lace pattern, deep v-neck and gentle side shaping. The instructions show the lace pattern in both written and charted form with the 12 stitch pattern repeat highlighted on the chart which should make it easier to keep track of the pattern throughout. Having established the lace pattern across the width of both Back & Front pieces the waist shaping is achieved by changing needle size and so it's only when shaping the v-neck and the sleeves that you have to think about how the pattern and the shaping will be integrated. If, like me, you're a big fan of charts you'll find it helpful to use graph paper and pencil to see exactly how the shaping instructions will work with the lace pattern.

The pattern for the sweater Front instructs you to work 5[5:6:6] full repeats of the 20 row pattern plus a further 9[9:1:1] rows. So as an example I've created a graph that shows a 37 stitch wide section of knitting representing 3 repeats of the pattern. The black outline on the chart shows one side of the neck shaping which begins on Row 10 with a single stitch decrease and continues to decrease 1 stitch at the neck edge on every following 4th row.

Remember that one of the keys to knitting lace is that you need to balance every 'yo' or yarn over with a 'k2tog/ssk' in order that the number of stitches is maintained. Another thing to watch is that you don't work yarn overs in the stitches at the edges of your work. So with those rules in mind let's think about how Row 10 would be worked.

Although the pattern row shows a 'yo' followed by 'ssk' we need to decrease a stitch first so instead you should begin the row with 'ssk' in order to decrease the stitch then knit the 2nd stitch. You've now decreased 1 stitch at the neck edge and you can then work in pattern as directed by the chart to the end of the row. The next pattern row (Row 12) is worked without any shaping and starts with a 'yo' but as we're avoiding these at the side edges work it as 'kl' and then pattern as directed to the end of the row. Graphing out the pattern with all of the neck and sleeve shaping in this way may seem like a dreary task but it will bring together the charted and written instructions to make it clear what should be happening to the lace pattern whilst shaping.

Mitten blockers

Q As an avid sock knitter I've seen many types of sock blockers but it suddenly occurred to me the other day; is there an equivalent for mittens? Would they be called mitten blockers?!

This may be a silly question...

Lisa King by email

A Never fear Lisa, there's no such thing as a silly question, if you don't ask you'll never find out. Yes, there is a mitten equivalent for sock blockers and they're called, wait for it... mitten blockers! There are actually quite a few options available online including Tumbbuplokki Mitten Blockers made in Finland from recycled plastic which come with separate thumb blockers (available from www.etsy.com/shop/Succaplokki) and for lovers of natural materials there are Baltic Birch plywood blockers from www.etsy.com/shop/squirecountrycrafts.

If you're keen on DIY and fancy making your own then have a look at the excellent online tutorial from www.eskimimimakes.com which has clear diagrams, photographs and instructions. With so much choice you'd better go and knit some mittens to make use of them.

Scallop cast on edge

Alternative scallop edge

Q I really like the cable jumper by Patons in the bumper March 2013 issue of Knitting magazine, but it's finished with a crochet edging and I can't crochet to save my life. I don't want to replace it with a ribbed edging because then it would look like every other jumper out there and the scalloped edge is one of the things I like about it. Is there a knitted edging I could use that would give a similar effect please?

Lisa Coulson by email

A You're absolutely right that the scalloped crochet edging adds an elegant twist to this richly cabled sweater and whilst combining crochet and knit within a garment works in theory, it's not necessarily the case that every knitter knows how to crochet and vice versa. I've managed to find you a scalloped edging that looks very similar to the original crochet edge and can be worked as the cast on of the garment before continuing with the main pattern. It's based on a multiple of 11 sts + 2 so you will need to increase/decrease stitches in the last 3 rows in order to arrive at the appropriate number of stitches required for the size of garment you're knitting.

Let's look at how the edging works for the Back & Front of the sweater:

Using the thumb method cast on 134[156:178:200] sts

1st row (RS): Purl.

Row 2: K2, *k1, slip this at back onto the left needle, lift the next 8 sts on left needle over this st and off needle, yo (twice), knit the 1st st again working into the front and back of it (2 sts made), k2; rep from * to end.

Row 3: K1, *k1, k into front and back of next st, k1, drop 1st part of the double yo made in previous row and knit into the front and back of it 3 times (6 sts made), k1; rep from * to last st, k1.

Row 4: Knit.

Knit 3 more rows adjusting the stitch count as necessary then continue as instructed by pattern. For the sleeves cast on 79 sts reducing to 71 sts in the final 2 rows as before.

PURl About Town

Laura 'Purl Princess' Parkinson spins around until she gets dizzy and seeks help from the professionals

In the spring this year I visited the wonderful Wool House exhibition at Somerset House in London, where I found two ladies in the craft room demonstrating spinning. I had a go at the drop spindle and watched the wheel in awe as the lady calmly worked the pedal into an undulating rhythm and spun directly from a fleece. My interest was re-kindled but coming home to my stashed away spinning goods I couldn't bring myself to get started again. My argument is that there are so many talented professional spinners out there creating gorgeous yarn. This yarn needs to be knit by someone. I'd like to be that someone.

The professionals I'm talking about are people like Sharon Taylor from Taylor Made Yarns, who is living the dream locally sourcing fleece, spinning and dyeing it herself in her studio in Suffolk. She produces Art Yarns, which are beautiful, unique and a little bit of magic in your hands. Her mission is to let people know what

At least once a week, around lunchtime when I'm at work, my boss gets up from his chair, grabs his bag and asks me "Fancy spinning today, Laura?" My heart always jumps a little thinking about a drop spindle, maybe a spinning wheel, fibre running through my hands to make a beautiful yarn. What a perfect lunchtime activity. But then the bubble bursts when I remember that the kind of spinning he's talking about involves sitting on an exercise bike at the gym and being shouted at to go faster by some crazy instructor. Not exactly my idea of fun.

Spinning (the yarn kind) has always intrigued me. It has to be something to do with the old world feel about it and the simplicity of the idea of turning a sheep fleece into a wearable product. There's also a romance attached to the idea of having a spinning wheel in your house – how very Sleeping Beauty of me. So a few years ago I learned to use a drop spindle on a course at the wonderful Handweavers Studio. I really enjoyed learning the technique and went on to do another course where I tried a spinning wheel. During this class I made enough undyed, beautifully creamy yarn to knit up into a little neck warmer, finished with an over-sized natural wood button. My romantic notions of spinning were set. Thankfully, I was clever enough not to run out and buy a wheel to begin with, as I found that spinning began to take over my knitting time and within a few months the spindles and fibre were tucked away in the stash and haven't come out since.

"Spinning (the yarn kind) has always intrigued me. It has to be something to do with the old world feel about it and the simplicity of the idea of turning a sheep fleece into a wearable product" real fibre and yarn is, not just the industrially made stuff we buy in John Lewis. Her craft is so well honed that I can leave the spinning to her and I'll do the knitting.

It is true that, in an ideal world where my boss would set out a spinning session at lunchtime I would love to do a bit of recreational spinning, but in reality it's knitting time that I crave. That is until I grow an extra set of arms so that I can knit and spin at the same time, although I'd be less Sleeping Beauty and more monster locked in the dungeons that way.

Must have:

Taylor Made Yarns have so many magical skeins of hand spun yarn you'll have a hard time choosing just one. Visit her etsy store or even pop in and see the lady herself for a spinning tutorial. Click on to www.taylormadeyarns.com

Must learn:

If you are yearning to have a go at spinning your own yarn I would recommend the Handweavers Studio in London's Introduction to spinning class. Check out the course dates at www.handweavers.co.uk. There are also plenty of spinning classes across the land so be sure to search in your local area.

BASIC INFORMATION

The quantities of yarn are based on average requirements and are therefore approximate. It is essential to work to the stated tension and you should always knit a tension square before starting. If you have too many stitches to 10cm(4in) your tension is tight and you should change to a larger needle. If there are too few stitches, your tension is loose and you should change to a smaller needle. We cannot accept responsibility for the finished product if any yarn other than the one specified is used. Instructions given are for the first size, with larger sizes in round brackets. Where only one figure or instruction is given this applies to all sizes. Work all directions inside square brackets the number of times stated. See ball band for washing and pressing instructions.

YARN NOTE

All Debbie Bliss Luxury Silk Print DK yarns have a regular colour sequence, but not all balls start the sequence in the same place. You can choose to ignore it, but if you wish to maintain the colour order, you may need to wind off a small amount of yarn at the start of a new ball to find the correct colour, you should be able to use the wound off yarn at a later stage or for working bands or sewing up. When joining in, check that the colour sequence of the new ball doesn't reverse the colour order, unless this is the effect you want.
